[Numb. 635.]

THE GOLDEN AGE.

IN earliest Times when good old Saturn sway'd,
And this Terrestrial World with Joy survey'd,
The happy Men, that first possess'd this Earth,
Spent their dear Hours in endless Rounds of Mirth;
They claim'd no Titles from Descent or Blood,
But that, which made them noble, made them good:
Envy was not. None thought themselves oppress'd,
For ev'ry one, what most he lik'd, possess'd.
Then, all were Friends, no seeming Wrongs were heard,
Love was their Law, and Innocence their Guard;
No snarling Words from drunken Fits ensued, Acorns and Strawberries were all their Food.)
From painful Cares of Luxury they fled,
And on the wholesome Herbs of Nature fed, Possess'd of inward Peace they eat their Fill,
And drank the Crysal of the morn'ring Rill.
Unbrib'd by Riches, as unbaw'd by Fear,
Their Words were artless, and their Thoughts sincere.)
No Ships as yet the guiltless Seas o'er spread,
Nor Axe to Tree, nor Saw to Wood was laid:
But each, contented in his Native Plain, Scorn'd to explore new Worlds in Hopes of Gain.)
Immortal Spring then bless'd those happy Times, Strangers to Vice, as yet unknown to Crimes.
But when good Saturn left the Seats above,
And all Things yielded to the Force of Jove,
In Course of Times an Iron Age appear'd,
When Injuries were felt, and Wrongs were heard.
All that is Evil to Mankind is known,
The Wife her Husband kills, and he the Son;
Eternal Fraud the highest Place demands,
The Good and Wile are slain by impious Hands.
A servile Flattery the World attends,
Your greatest Enemies will seem your Friends.
Dread and Impudence triumphant reign,
Folly and Vice a wondrous sway obtain.
Surprising Ills surround the Stage of Life,
Disslate and Guile, Ingratitude and Strife.
Ye Gods! may ye those happier Times behold, Reform the World, and give an Age of Gold.

R O M E, January 23.

THE Chevalier de St. George has dismissed a third Part of the Officers and Servants of his Household, and sold off his superfluous Equipages and Horses, the better to enable him to continue the Remittances he makes to his eldest Son. For the same Purpose he has pledged Part of his Plate in the Mounts of Piety, as also what Jewels he had still by him of the late Princess Clementina Sobiesky, his Wife.

Edinburgh, Feb 3. Such a speedy Deliverance to the South Part of Scotland upon the Duke's Arrival there was beyond the warmest Expectation; and the inimitable Bravery of his Royal Highness, who has freed the better Half of North-Britain from Oppression, Slavery, Rapine and Blood, in the short Space of three Days, will be ever gratefully acknowledged by all the Friends of Liberty.

Febr. 13. The Weather has been as severe as has been known for many Years, which occasions an Impossibility for the Troops to lie without the Cover of Houses; and as yet they remain at Perth, tho' Detachments are marched to Dunkeld, Crief, Cowper, &c. His Royal Highness omits no Opportunity of seizing important Passes, and cantoning the Army in such a proper Manner, as at once to secure the Soldiers from the intolerable Cold, and to distress the Rebels.

The Patroles, which are very numerous, bring in Prisoners every Day, but we don't hear of any of Distinction; the whole Picquets are advanced several Miles, and keep such a good Look out, that the Rebels can draw no Subsistence from the Low-Country.

The Hessians are now landed, and canton'd in this City and the Neighbourhood; they are allowed to be the best made, proper, and well-disciplin'd Troops, that were ever seen in this Country.

As to the Rebels, they straggle from Place to Place, to procure Subsistence, so it cannot be positively said where they now are; they have a considerable Body in Aberdeenshire, and commit the most enormous Excesses to increase it, putting all to Fire and Sword who refuse to join them.

Glasgow, Febr 17. From Edinburgh we are inform'd, that on Friday the Transports which brought over the Hessians, sailed for Newcastle, in order to carry over the Dutch Troops to Holland.

Edinburgh, Feb. 20. A Gentleman is arrived here by Sea, who left Cromarty on Thursday last, which is a very small Way from Inverness; he reports that the Earl of Loudon had a Body of upwards of 3000, and had taken all Precautions

Precaution for the Security of Inverness, in case the Rebels should move that Way. The Place is well stored with Provisions, and Trenches thrown up in proper Places for making a vigorous Defence.

One James Riddel, was apprehended as a Spy at Stirling, and hang'd up.

Glasgow, Feb. 24. On Friday last his Royal Highness, with the Army under his Command, march'd from Perth towards Montrose; he is to be replaced by 3000 Hessians.

BOSTON, April 21.

By a Vessel which arrived at Marblehead from Virginia last Monday, in five Days, we learn, That the Deer and Terrington Men of War, with the Transports, having about 1700 Soldiers on board from Gibraltar, sail'd for Leith on the 9th Instant.

A Vessel came into Salem, informs, that a few Days ago she met and spoke with the Virginia Fleet within three Days Sail of Leith.

CHARLES-TOWN, May 26.

Last Week his Excellency the Governor arrived at his House in perfect Health, after a tedious Journey of Five Hundred Miles, undertaken with a View to settle and quiet all Matters between the several Indian Nations surrounding us, and this Government: He was attended by about Fifty Gentlemen on Horseback and their Servants, all well armed; and by Two Hundred Horsemen in the Pay of this Province; and, which is remarkable, tho' the Weather was exceeding bad, and the greatest part of the People in this Service had nothing to cover them from heavy Rains but the Barks of Trees, yet they all returned well and in good Health. In this Journey his Excellency was met by the King of Catawba's and about 100 of his Headmen and Warriors, by the Emperor of the Cherokees and about 70 of his Headmen, by the Headmen of the Creeks, and by the Squirrel King and most of the People of the Lower Chickasaws. And as our Accounts from the Indian Countries were very alarming before his Excellency undertook his Journey, we have now the Pleasure of being able to inform our Readers, that all Things are adjusted to the Safety and Honour of this Province, whereby a Foundation is laid for disappointing the Schemes of the French, and still retaining in our Interest these Four important Nations. And, as it may be satisfactory to the People of this Province and other his Majesty's Subjects in America, we hope that we shall be able to furnish them with an exact Account of what passed at those several Meetings, in our next and some future Papers.

There is Advice from Antigua, by a Vessel that arrived from thence Yesterday, that one of the West-India Packet-Boats was lately taken by a French Privateer, in Sight of that Island, as she was coming from Barbados. And, that Admiral Townshend was sail'd with his Squadron for Cape-Breton.

On Wednesday arrived a Spanish Schooner, as a Flag of Truce, from St Augustine, with the Master and Crew of the Lilly's Prize lately taken and carried in there by a French Privateer.

Lieutenant Lloyd and Ensign Drake of Colonel Vander Dussen's Independent Companies, are arrived here.
